A MORE PERFECT UNION CONGRATULATES LINDA GORDON HOWARD ON NEW BOOK

Founding Member Writes Ultimate Sexual Harassment Guide

(NEW YORK, NY – March 12, 2007) Since the inception of A More Perfect Union, Linda Gordon Howard has been a guiding force. Not only has she helped the not-for-profit develop its signature series, she has been instrumental in the organization’s tremendous growth over the past 10 years. Now she’s bringing her legal expertise to the nation’s labor force with her new book, The Sexual Harassment Handbook, described by former New York City mayor David Dinkins as “a prime reference for those who shape policy and have a genuine interest in creating...respect in any working environment.”

Howard, who currently serves as A More Perfect Union’s Vice President, is an attorney, consultant and trainer specializing in sexual harassment in the workplace. Her practical methods have been applied successfully in organizations such as the White House, the United States Senate, the Ohio State University School of Law, the New York City Law Department, and Hunter College of the City University of New York. She also sits on the Board of Trustees of Reed College (Portland, Ore.), and is a Seminar Leader for Landmark Education, a global provider of transformational programs.

With six other original members, Howard founded A More Perfect Union to build a network of women that would support each other in reaching their goals. Today, the organization serves approximately 120 women annually in the top three transitional residential facilities in the New York City area and has a volunteer base of over 50 women.

Howard credits A More Perfect Union and its Circle of Women program with helping her realize her goal of having her book published. It was during a Circle of Women program, the five-session series offered semi-annually at drug treatment centers, that Howard uncovered a harbored dream of wanting to develop a guide on sexual harassment. She says the book never would have been published if she had not spoken out to her fellow volunteers. “It is in fact a dream come true,” says Howard. “It’s something I invented. It’s something I said I was going to do. And darned if I’m not making it happen.”

The Sexual Harassment Handbook, published by Career Press, is available in bookstores now. Howard hopes to “put a copy of the book in the hands of every man and woman in America” with the ultimate goal of transforming the workplace.

A More Perfect Union (www.amoreperfectunion.org) is an organization of women that trains women at risk to have supportive, healthy relationships. We deliver our program, The Circle of Women, to women recovering from lethal addiction, domestic abuse and homelessness. Through the sharing of common experiences, our program engenders trust, promotes personal responsibility and demonstrates the power of strong female bonds. A More Perfect Union, Inc. is a not-for-profit tax-exempt 501(c)(3) corporation founded in 1992.
